Flag Unfurled in Time for Games

Friday, 18 March, was a cold, windy day. It was also a day that will be recorded in the history of our University. On that day, for the very first time in the life of The University of Alberta, an official University flag was broken. Some time in the making—as a concept the flag was initiated by Bill Preshing while chairman of the 75th Anniversary Committee—the flag was brought to reality by Walter Jungkind of the Department of Art and Design and by Brian Silzer, Administrative Director of the Board of Governors. It was raised on six poles in the entrance court to the Universiade Pavilion in a brief but well attended ceremony.

Doug Burns, current Chairman of the 75th Anniversary Committee, acted as Master of Ceremonies. He introduced the Flag Party members and asked Professor Jungkind, whose design brief had been to include the crest, to describe the evolution of the flag. Professor Jungkind did so succinctly, pointing out the fact that our University crest, while greatly revered by many, needed updating in form and so has undergone drastic revision during its life. After Professor Jungkind's address, the very first flag was presented by him to John Schlosser, Chairman of the Board of Governors. Mr. Schlosser formally accepted the flag on behalf of the University.

Flags were then presented to the remaining Flag Party members and President Horowitz made a few remarks about the process by which the concept of a University flag became a reality. He pointed out also that ceremonies of the sort that was taking place are important in that they symbolize an enduring tradition of scholarship and service.

Accompanied by Ernest Dalwood and The Old Strathcona Town Band, Patricia Swan and Gerhard Krushke then sang the University Cheer Song and the 75th Anniversary Theme Song, while the Flag Party members slowly raised the golden emblems that, during the World University Games, will be seen across the city.

Flags fly in Yellow Square

Flag Party members were as follows: John Schlosser, Chairman of the Board, assisted by Brian Silzer; Chancellor Peter Savaryn, assisted by Mary Totman, Executive Officer to the Senate; President Horowitz, assisted by Students' Union President Robert Greenhill; Ross Macnab, Vice-President (University) of the World University Games, assisted by Gard Gamage, Chief Engineer for Ellis-Don Limited, the Universiade Pavilion's constructor; Jean Forest, Honorary Chairman of the 75th Anniversary Committee; assisted by Bill Preshing representing the 75th Anniversary Flag Sub-Committee; and Alumni President Frank Kozar, assisted by Susan Peirce, Director of Alumni Affairs.

The evolution of the University's crest is made clear in the accompanying illustrations. The first crest, approved by the Board of Governors on 1 March 1911, was designed by J. Adam. On 21 March 1950, a revised version by H.G. Glyde gained formal acceptance. The version redesigned for the University flag by Professor Jungkind was presented to the Board of Governors on 4 June 1982. Plus ça change, . . . □

Legion Makes Major Donations to Kidney Research and Geriatric Medicine

Examples of the Royal Canadian Legion's largesse are, well, legion. In Alberta alone, some $2 million is donated each year to various causes and projects. This University recently took its place on the 1983 list of donation recipients. On to details . . . As March comes to an end, so, too, does national "kidney month." But while the month-long concentrated effort at fund-raising for kidney research and public awareness about kidney disease may be over, the research itself goes on. And now, thanks to the generosity and initiative of the Kingsway Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, the research effort at the University can go on more strongly than ever. For the third year in a row, Branch #175 has made a major donation to the Edmonton Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Canada, a donation that has been turned over to the University to support kidney research in the Renal Research Unit.

The Legion initiative began in early 1981, according to Mac MacMahon, Chairman of the Kingsway Branch Ways and Means Committee. "We had extra funds on hand from a successful fund-raising venture," he explains, "and we wanted to put the money to the best possible use." After considerable research into appropriate uses for the money, the Kingsway Legion approached the Edmonton Chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Canada. Could they use $25,000? They could indeed, came the grateful reply, and the first dialysis motor home was purchased for the Edmonton area. (The fully-equipped motor home means the first holiday away from home for many who live their lives thanks to weekly dialysis treatments.)

Later in the same year, another donation, this one for $20,000, was offered. Another motor home was not needed, and so the money was used to set up the Royal Canadian Legion Kidney Research Endowment. Early in 1982 yet another $20,000 was added to the fund, which has been approved by the provincial government as an Advanced Education Endowment Fund, and thereby qualifies for a matching grant on the interest earned.

For many, that would seem enough. Not so the Kingsway Branch of the Legion. On 11 March 1983, it presented to The University of Alberta (via the Kidney Foundation at its annual "Kick-off Breakfast") a cheque for more than $40,000. In accepting the cheque of behalf of the University, J. Gordin Kaplan, Vice-President (Research), praised the initiative of the Legion. John Dossetor, Professor of Medicine, is head of the Kidney Research Endowment Fund and he echoes Dr. Kaplan's praise. "The donations are a wonderful help. We are profoundly grateful to the Kingsway Branch of the Legion for this initiative which will make an important difference to the strength of kidney research at this University."

An added bonus is the effect that the Kingsway Branch effort has had on another branch of the Legion. Just recently, the Strathcona Branch (#150) donated $10,000 to the Endowment Fund. "We're pleased about the snowballing effect," says Kingsway's MacMahon. "It bears out the rightness of our choice."

The Legion's other major donation took place on 8 March in the Day

Hospital of the Youville Memorial Wing, Edmonton General Hospital. Jim Buffam, Honorary Treasurer of the Local Command of the Royal Canadian Legion, presented a cheque for $42,500 to President Horowitz. The money ($40,000 from the Alberta-Northwest Territories Command and $2,500 from the Centennial Branch in Calgary) is earmarked for the support of research in geriatric medicine. A research assistant will be hired to oversee a number of projects including studies in the areas of nutrition, audiology, neurology, and cerebral blood flow.

The money will also help us prepare various grant proposals, said David Skelton, Professor and Chairman of the Division of Geriatric Medicine in this University's Faculty of Medicine, and Head of the Edmonton General Hospital's Department of Geriatrics.

The Day Hospital maintains a very active program as evidenced by its use of three vans to collect patients from across Edmonton. Alberta, Dr. Skelton pointed out, has the highest degree of institutional care of older people in the world.

The Department of Geriatric Medicine was officially constituted in May 1982 and beds in Geriatric Medicine opened in February of that year. The total bed complement is currently 210. The average occupancy rate (of beds operational) for the period September through December 1982 was 92.2 percent. The average length of stay was thirty-two days, and the average age of patients was seventy-six years. Dr. Skelton reports that consultation requests directed to the Department of Geriatric Medicine have continued to increase in number.

About twenty-five hours of medical undergraduate teaching is conducted in aspects of geriatric medicine, and this involves all three phases of the undergraduate curriculum. Electives, says Dr. Skelton, are now being offered in geriatric medicine and are increasing in popularity (three undergraduate students from Newfoundland's Memorial University are booked for 1983).

All Family Practice residents now do a mandatory rotation in the department and this has also been most favorably received. "It is considered by most residents to offer exceptional exposure to internal medicine teaching as well as of course exposing the resident to modern geriatric medical approaches unobtainable elsewhere."

Dr. Skelton related how Mr. Buffam walked into his (Skelton's) office one day last fall and suggested that the Legion might be able to help in the furtherance of geriatric medicine research. Talk like that and the hint that Legion donations will continue over the next five years has the immediate effect of making Dr. Skelton and many other people feel substantially younger.□

University Games Seek Linguistic Volunteers

In about three months, Edmonton will host the biggest sporting event in its history: the World University Games, to take place 1 to 11 July. Athletes, officials and spectators will come from all parts of the world to participate. The Universiade '83 Corporation has successfully recruited hundreds of volunteers, mostly people with linguistic skills who are needed to facilitate communication with our non-English speaking visitors.

Yet there is still a shortage of volunteers who speak the following languages: Bulgarian, Finnish, Korean, Malagasy, Mongolian, Nepalese, Serbo-Croatian, Turkish, and Vietnamese. Members of the University community with a good knowledge of any of these languages are urged to offer their services and contact Monique Savoie of the Corporation's Linguistic Services Department at 422-1983, or Paul Figueroa, volunteer with the same Department, and librarian Cameron Library, at 432-3780.□

Symposium on International Affairs

An important event in the 75th Anniversary scheme of things will take place in SUB Theatre on 11 and 12 April.

The Symposium on International Affairs will, via talks by six renowned authorities, examine international relations, world politics, law, peace, and the future.

Symposium Chairman G.H. Sperber, and Moderator L.C. Green will open the program at 9 a.m. on 11 April. President Horowitz will then extend greetings.

The first of the visiting speakers will be former Canadian Secretary General to the Commonwealth, Arnold C. Smith, whose topic, "Canada and World Politics: East-West, North-South", will deal with Canada's domestic politics and her relation to, and involvement with other nations. Plans to propose the improvement of international banking policies and reforms within the much needed world organizations will also be outlined. Following Mr. Smith, Tahseen Mohameed Basheer, Egyptian Ambassador to Canada, will speak on "Peace in the Middle East."

In the afternoon Judge Manfred Lachs, International Court of Justice, will discuss "International Law: Perspectives of a World Order." To be considered are the development of relations between states, bridges to a world order, and law as the instrument to secure this goal.

The last speaker on Monday will be John W. Holmes, former Canadian First Secretary to London. In his address, "The Future of Yesterday", Mr. Holmes will speak on the need to restore our vision of ourselves as a country and of our appropriate place in the world.

On Tuesday morning The Rt. Hon. Sir Zelman Cowen, Former Governor

General of Australia, will give his address. "Prospects for the Law" will tell of the many challenges to the authority of the law in a complex society where there are fewer "shared imperatives."

Finally, noted novelist and historian Han Suyin will draw attention to the differences between the "haves" and the "have nots" of the world, and the conflict this creates. Her talk, entitled "Looking Forward", will also tell of her belief that the world will not destroy itself but that, through involvement and a new consciousness, the notion of brotherhood in mankind will be restored.

Frequent question periods and a panel discussion will be included in the two-day program. Tickets, at $10 for the two days, are on sale through BASS. For further information on the Symposium, contact the Office of Community Relations, 432-2325. □

Alumni Gather as Lethbridge Salutes Our 75th

It is unlikely that Saturday, 19 March, will stand out in the memory of many Innisfailians. But Innisfail will long remain in the minds of twenty-eight University of Alberta representatives who, in the words of Myer Horowitz, got to know that town's diner "just a bit better than we wanted to!"

It began innocently enough. Somewhat sleepily, the travellers gathered by the Stadium Car Park and boarded a bus that was to take them to Lethbridge and a gala performance by the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, arranged by the University of Lethbridge as its salute to The University of Alberta in this 75th year. In spite of the early start, good spirits reigned, and the miles rolled by.

When the bus driver pulled to the side of the road, no one paid him much heed. But his announcement that, alas, the bus had lost its oil and could go no farther could scarcely be ignored.

Valiant attempts to "start 'er up" narrowed the distance to the Innisfail diner, where the twenty-eight sought shelter, coffee (and crackerjacks). Cheers all around greeted the replacement bus (sent from Edmonton!)...and the ten-hour trip continued.

To say that the rest of the weekend was uneventful would be unfair. The dash to dress and dine; the brilliant performance by Evelyn Hart and the ballet; the opportunity to mingle with some 400 University of Alberta alumni who gathered for the special performance and who now form the nucleus of a southern Alberta alumni branch; the champagne reception; and, above all, the enthusiastic welcome by the University of Lethbridge, who were clearly proud of their unique tribute to "their sister to the north"... all contributed to make the celebration what President Horowitz termed a "memorable occasion."

Twin proclamations were signed by representatives of the two universities. Proclaiming "continued goodwill and cooperation" between the institutions, the parchments will stand as lasting mementos of the unique 75th anniversary gift. □

Eva Bereti Appointed to Senate

An Edmonton woman has been appointed the new public member to the University of Alberta Senate.

Eva Bereti joins eight other public Senate members appointed by the Minister of Alberta Advanced Education. She began her three-year term on 10 March.

Born on the Poorman Reservation in Quinton, Saskatchewan, Eva Bereti is employed as a native studies facilitator by the Edmonton Separate School Board. She has also been active as a community volunteer, working with cancer groups, young people's organizations, and as a supervisor and instructor of figure skating.

In announcing Eva Bereti's appointment, Dick Johnston, Minister of Advanced Education said: "Her experience as a mother, community volunteer, and career woman will enrich the functions of the University of Alberta Senate." □

Experts from a variety of disciplines including pediatrics, psychology, education, physical education, and government agencies will present the most up-to-date knowledge in the field.

The program will review the causes, characteristics, and classification of mental retardation; the principles of normalization; the medical aspects of mental retardation; learning and development characteristics; behavior management techniques; programming for growth; and social-emotional-recreational development. In addition, a full-day tour will be made of various community facilities for the retarded. Lectures, workshops, discussion groups, and films will emphasize practical understanding and techniques for working with the retarded.

The registration fee is $50 per person. The workshop will be held on 12, 14, 19, 21, 26, and 28 April and 3 May from 7 to 9:30 p.m. (106 Education South); 16 April from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. (113 Education South); and 20 April from 9:15 a.m. to 4 p.m. (tours).

75th Anniversary Event Grades Out Well

The future is looking good for the fortunes of the "Canada, the World and the Future" conference. The conference, a 75th Anniversary event, ran from 14 to 18 March. Sessions were held in Lister Hall, the Dentistry/Pharmacy Centre, Education North, and the Law Centre. The organizing committee, which includes Baha Abu-Laban, Associate Vice-President (Research), will meet soon to assess the impact of the conference and to consider the possibility of holding it again. Dr. Abu-Laban is optimistic that the conference will return next year, likely under the same title. The format is general enough that topics can be changed from year to year; "we need such a conference to give some visibility to our intellectual concerns," he told Folio.

In Dr. Abu-Laban's estimation, the conference drew about seventy people to each session with the exception of the 17 March session entitled "Issues of Life and Death in Medicine and the Law." About 130 people gathered to listen to panelists Edward Keyserlingk, Law Reform Commission of Canada, Ottawa; Garner King, Professor of Pulmonary Medicine at this University; Neil Finer, Director of the Royal Alexandra Hospital's Neonatal Intensive Care Unit; and Bernard Dickens, Professor of Law, Osgoode Hall, Toronto. It will be recalled that the issue of whether a British Columbia couple had the right to determine that their six-year-old son's life was not worth living was before the B.C. Supreme Court.

Dr. Abu-Laban points out that, potentially, the public can be attracted in large numbers if the conference's topics and timing dovetail as they did on 17 March.

"Canada, the World and the Future" was open to all at no charge and no registration was required. There were six themes: "Women: Is the Battle Lost", "Food, Technology and Population", "The Arts and Sciences in Society", "The Judicial Process: Human Failings and Virtues", "Issues of Life and Death in Medicine and the Law", and "War and Peace." Faculty members of this University served as chairmen for the various panel discussions. Among the panelists were Inger Hansen, Human Rights Commission, Ottawa; Rose Sheinin, Professor of Microbiology and Parasitology, University of Toronto; Lois Sweet, Edmonton Journal columnist; H.F. MacRae, Principal, Nova Scotia Agricultural College; A.E. Harper, Professor of Nutritional Science and Biochemistry, University of Wisconsin; S. Panagiotou, Professor of Philosophy, McMaster University; E.J. McCormick, Q.C., Calgary; and F.H. Knelman, Co-ordinator, Science and Human Affairs, Concordia University, Montreal.

The conference was organized in cooperation with the Office of the Vice-President (Research). All sessions were taped by the Department of Radio and Television. □

University Film Wins Top Award

A University of Alberta film has won the "Best Wildlife" category award in the Alberta Motion Picture Industry Association's 1983 competition.

"Ghost Moose", produced by the University's Department of Radio and Television for the Department of Zoology, is the story of William Samuel's research into the effect of the tick dermacentor albipictus on moose. The tick is blamed for the eighty percent death rate among the moose in Elk Island Park over the winter, and kills hundreds of moose in Alberta every year.

Professor Samuel's research is the basis for the film; he and graduate students are shown working with test and control animals at the University's Biological Animal Centre as well as in the field. The movie centres on the modern zoological research undertaken to demonstrate the breadth and depth of inquiry that must be brought to wildlife survival problems.

"Ghost Moose" is being distributed by the Department of Radio and Television and sales have already been made in Canada and the United States, and a portion of the film has been used by the BBC in its "Nature" series in England. □

Dan Usher to Visit Department of Economics

Dan Usher of the Department of Economics, Queen's University, will be visiting our University at the invitation of the Economics Department for the period 5 through 15 April. While here he will present a public lecture and several seminars in the department and to the newly formed interdisciplinary Political Economy committee.

Professor Usher has an international reputation on the basis of his research in several fields of economics. He has published a large number of books and articles in such diverse areas as economic development, the measurement of social welfare, regional economics and policy, federal-provincial relations and the structure of democratic systems. His most recent book, The Economic Prerequisite to Democracy, has received much attention and has been widely reviewed.

Professor Usher received his undergraduate education at McGill and his PhD from the University of Chicago. From there he was the Halsworth Fellow in Economics at the University of Manchester from 1961 to 1963 and a Research Fellow at Oxford from 1963 to 1966. He moved from there to Columbia and then, after a year, to Queen's University in Kingston where he has been on staff since. Over the academic year 1971-72 and the spring of 1973, Professor Usher held a Killam Fellowship of the Canada Council and visited at UBC. During the 1978-79 academic year he was a National Fellow at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford. He has also been a consultant to several government agencies including the Economic Planning Unit of the Government of Malaysia.

While at this University Professor Usher will give a public lecture on 5 April entitled "Production and Predation." This will be followed by two lectures in the Department of Economics on 6 and 7 April. "The Economics of Theft" will be considered by Professor Usher. In the second week of his visit he will report on his recent work on the opportunity cost of public funds in two lectures on 12 and 13 April. On 14 April he will take part in a forum based on discussion of the ideas presented in his recent book on the stability of democratic systems. The times and locations of these events will be published in the "Coming Events" section of Folio. □
